SUBJECT: Ellensburg School District Annual Report on Music Education

Thank you for taking the time to review our first annual report on Music Education K-12 in the Ellensburg School District. The newly formed Ellensburg Music Coalition is a community-based advocacy group that has worked closely with all of the music teachers in our district to provide the data for this report. We see this as a way of providing some basic information to establish the current state of music education.

Do we need a music coalition when music education seems to be thriving in our district? Yes, since we can’t take that support for granted. We understand there will always be tough budget decisions and with the focus on state testing requirements, music education is often perceived to be a non-core requirement, making it vulnerable to reductions of time allotted, dollars allocated, or other essential resources needed to maintain the programs’ high quality.

The coalition is open to community members, teachers, administrators, parents, and anyone who is passionate about equal access to music education for all kids. The current goal is to publicize our existence and educate our community on our principles and mission and the district budget/decision process. We’ll know that we’ve established ourselves as a credible, well-informed, student-focused organization when decision-makers seek our input when determining the impacts of their decisions before making any changes affecting music education.

There will be an opportunity at a future board meeting for our coalition to answer any questions, address concerns or hear comments from you regarding the content of the report or our coalition.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey Snedeker
Ellensburg Music Coalition

CC: District Superintendent, Music Teachers
Purpose: The purpose of this annual report is to keep the Ellensburg School District administration and school board informed about the activities and the importance of its music programs.

Ellensburg Music Coalition: A community-based advocacy group focused on promoting music education in the Ellensburg School District. Community members and music teachers across the district serve as critical partners in creating a positive environment for maintaining and building music programs for students K-12.

Coalition Mission: To ensure equal access to quality music education for all K-12 students in the Ellensburg School District.

Coalition Principles: Our coalition is built on the following principles:
- Our coalition is student centered—it is focused on the impact of any decision on local students.
- Our coalition’s focus is on music education as a unified, district-wide effort—it is not focused on individual schools, specific programs, or music directors.
- Our coalition is a community-based organization committed to creating long-term positive relationships with the key decision makers affecting music education.

The primary goals of the coalition are to support music in the school district curriculum, and to promote access to music in the curriculum for ALL students. Additional goals include:
- To promote a balanced curriculum that treats music as an equal, not in competition with other subjects.
- To recognize and share information about the positive contributions of our school music programs to our children and our community.
- To inform school board members and school administration on district-wide issues related to music.
- To have an ongoing, long-term focus on music in the curriculum.
- To present an annual report to the Ellensburg School Board.

While music teachers will certainly help our coalition toward its goals, the energy and information comes from the community, as a reflection of its values. It is NOT a fund-raising organization, but will work with parent groups or booster clubs in support of school music programs.

Coalition Membership: Anyone who has a passion for music and believes all students should have access to music education.
Focus of this report
1. A summary of the number of students involved in curricular, co-curricular, and extra-curricular music education across our district in the three elementary schools, Morgan Middle School, and Ellensburg High School.
2. A summary of the performances and highlights of this year

Future goals
1. The annual report will be presented at the end of each school year, growing in scope
2. The coalition will continue to work with district music educators to develop short- and long-term plans for music education K-12.

Resources
The coalition plans to have a Facebook page and a website to publicize events, educate, promote resources, and communicate actions needed.

Elementary Schools

Instructional Staff: Each elementary school in the Ellensburg School District has a full time music specialist. In addition, a full-time district strings teacher has a part of her FTE assigned to elementary students (.2 out of 1.0). The primary responsibility for these teachers is delivering musical instruction to all students in each school.

Leslie Schneider teaches full-time elementary music at Valley View Elementary in Ellensburg. She previously taught in the Yakima School district as a travelling teacher in four elementary schools for three years and has worked in the Ellensburg School District since 1990. She graduated from LaCenter High School and studied piano lessons from Beulah Cheever for 9 years, participating in national and international piano auditions throughout high school. She won Clark County’s piano solo contest in 1969 and was a featured soloist at her graduation and at a county-wide recital. Leslie received her BA and MA in Music Education from Central Washington University, with additional coursework at Clark College and Portland State University. In 2002, her 3rd graders won a $10,000 contest from Oscar Mayer that helped stock her music room instruments, technology, and materials. She was named Ellensburg’s Teacher of the Year in 2006. Her performance groups have been featured in MENC’s World’s Largest Concert twice, and once at the WMEA Yakima Conference. She was named WMEA’s elementary music educator of the year in 2012 and she is currently serving as the WMEA Elementary East curriculum officer. She has two wonderful children, their terrific spouses, and five adorable grandchildren, all currently living in Ellensburg.

Shanna Simonson, Music teacher at Mt. Stuart Elementary, was hired by the Ellensburg School District in 2003. She grew up in a small town in Eastern Oregon. Shanna started taking piano lessons and voice lessons in elementary school from fellow Ellensburg S.D. music educator, Carol Alldredge. She went on to graduate with a Bachelor's degree in Vocal Performance from Eastern Oregon University in 2000 and received her Master's in Education from Portland State University in 2003. Shanna met her husband Luke in choir, while attending Eastern Oregon University, and they now have two young daughters. Shanna enjoys spending time with her family, likes to play sports, and enjoys spending time outdoors.

Carol Alldredge, Music teacher at Lincoln Elementary, was raised in Seattle and started piano lessons in the third grade and voice lessons in high school. She went to Central and received a degree in Music Education, emphasizing vocal performance. She taught in Eastern Oregon for 4 years, as a high school choral director, K-6 general music, basketball coach, church choir director and also gave private piano and voice instruction. After a brief interlude in Canon Beach and Seattle, she went back to Oregon and was a substitute teacher and taught private piano and voice from her home while her children were small. In 1994, she moved with her family to Ellensburg. She then received her Master’s in Education and reading endorsement and has been with the Ellensburg School District first as a substitute, also teacher private piano. She has spent the last 15 years at Lincoln Elementary, teaching general music K-5.

Class time for music

NOTE: Elementary general music classes are used as a means to provide planning time for classroom teachers. As a result, opportunities for interaction between music specialists and classroom teachers are limited. Their schedules also work around reading blocks, math times, and other building priorities. They often work with the other specialists to allow classroom teachers maximum planning time and weekly scheduling that is as consistent as possible. They also assist in monitoring classes during assemblies or other programs as well as working with special education students, both mainstreamed and self-contained.

At Valley View (Leslie Schneider, music specialist), the class time is distributed as follows:
- Kindergarten: one class period per week @ 35 minutes
- Grades 1 and 2: two class periods per week @ 35 minutes each (total 70 minutes)
- Grades 3, 4, and 5: two class periods per week, 1 @ 35, 1 @ 45 minutes (total 80 minutes)
- Choir for grades 4 and 5 meets twice per week @ 40 minutes each (total 80 minutes)

At Mt Stuart (Shanna Simonson, music specialist), the class time is distributed as follows:
- Kindergarten: one class period per week @ 35 minutes
- Grades 1 - 5: two class periods per week @ 35 minutes (total 70 minutes)
- Choir for grades 4 and 5 meets once per week @ 50 minutes

At Lincoln (Carol Alldredge, music specialist), the class time is distributed as follows:
- Kindergarten: one class period per week @ 35 minutes
- Grades 1 - 5: two class periods per week @ 35 minutes (total 70 minutes)
- Music Club for grades 4 and 5: each grade meets once per week @ 35 minutes and once @ 30 minutes (total 65 minutes for each)
Elementary Strings: Kara Hunnicutt (.2 of 1.0 FTE)
- Beginning Strings (3rd, 4th, 5th grades): three class periods @ 45 minutes each (total 135 minutes)
- Advanced Elementary Strings (3rd, 4th, 5th grades): two class periods @ 45 minutes each (total 90 minutes)

Additional teaching assignments
- Simonson (Mt. Stuart) – PLC monitoring every Tuesday; Shanna meets her fourth and fifth grade choir during PLC time. Shanna has safety patrol at the end of the day on a rotating basis. It is typically about once every seven days, sometimes more often. She has a performance with fifth graders every year in February for “Celebration of Cultures”. She also teaches camp songs to fifth graders and goes to camp for an evening to sing with the fifth grade students. Shanna also does a fifth grade talent show; students audition with her and then perform at the Mt. Stuart barbeque.

- Schneider (Valley View): PLC monitoring every Tuesday morning for entire school in the gym

The three full-time elementary specialists are also compensated for up to 10 additional hours for time spent outside the contract day, e.g., for evening concerts, rehearsals/performance at county fair, etc.

Curriculum choices and coordination

Elementary teachers meet regularly and coordinate their curricula according to best practices, materials based on their professional assessment, and alignment with district, state, and national music standards (National Standards for Arts Education) and requirements. Materials include:

- “Game Plan” curriculum (including Orff-Schulwerk and Kodaly principles, among others)
- Silver Burdett curriculum and materials
- Quaver interactive website and DVDs
- Music Express (magazine subscription)
- Music K-8 (magazine subscription)
- Activate (magazine subscription)

Sample assessment activities:

General Music:

- Written assessments that involve listening, writing and reading music notation; skills assessments involve steady beat, singing voice, rhythmic patterns, harmonic opportunities and instrument playing. Pitched and non pitched percussion assessments (formal and informal) are at every grade level, and recorder assessments begin in 3rd grade.

- Some 3rd and 4th grades are given a state music assessment in the spring

- The 5th grades are given a state listening assessment in the fall and a state composition assignment in the spring. Some 5th graders also are given the state CBPA-rhythm (rondo form-performing and writing) assessment.

Strings: Formative assessments daily in class, aurally. Summative assessments weekly in the form of Karate Strings, where students have to play 2-4 short pieces to earn their karate “belts” or ribbons.

Music classes support the curriculum in the whole building through reading, writing, mathematics, history, culture, and reinforcing patriotic ideals as citizens. Music can relate to any subject area.
Co-curricular activities

Co-curricular activities include concert performances and other activities that involve entire classes or groups of students. Performances and other co-curricular activities at the elementary levels represent paths to independent musicianship and opportunities to share musical progress with the community.

One of the highlights for the entire community is the series of elementary Winter Concerts, held over several nights each December. Each school prepares its own concert programs, with each grade and school choirs/Music Club performing separately. In total, approximately 1300 students and their families participate in this important tradition. These and all concerts support the curriculum by showing parents music skills and concepts students are learning in music classes. The concert selections come from our music curriculum resources and align with state and national standards for music education.

In addition, the school Choirs/Music Club perform throughout the school year, including:
- Veterans Day assemblies (November)
- All-School assemblies (January, March)
- Exchange performance with all elementary groups at CWU
- Farmers Market (May)
- Kittitas County Fair

Valley View: Every other year, the Valley View Choir performs an exchange concert at CWU with the Yakima Children’s Choir. In 2011-12, Valley View Choir was selected to participate in NAfME’s concert for Music In Our Schools Month.

Mt. Stuart: Fifth Graders (68 students) perform at “Celebration of Cultures” in February every year. They learn 5 songs from different cultures around the world and then lead the students in their presentation of songs to parents.

Strings:
- Three evening concerts during the year (November, March, May), featuring all five district orchestras (elementary beginning, elementary advanced, middle school beginning/intermediate.
- Annual elementary holiday concert; strings perform at one of the three elementary holiday concerts every year, rotating between schools.
- Each September, every 5th grader learns to play D String Blues, and improvise, on a violin/viola/cello/bass (some instruments borrowed from CWU’s prep string program). Approx. 225 students; second week in September, during their elementary music classes.

NOTE: When performances are given during the school day such that music classes are missed, these classes must be doubled up and/or rearranged to accommodate the time missed.
Extra-curricular activities

Extra-curricular activities are for those students who desire to go above and beyond the school day and want additional performance opportunities. Some of these children do not have access or financial means for private instruction, and these extra curricular activities provide an outlet for them that they might not get to experience otherwise. Their musical skills are given an additional chance to be “fine-tuned” and the extra time spent practicing in the music room leads to additional bonding with other musicians. Their self-esteem rises and their achievements and responsible behaviors are often reflected elsewhere.

Valley View:
- Eight 5th grade students auditioned and one Valley View student, Gracie Luvera, was selected for the WIAA/WMEA All-State Youth Honor Choir in Vancouver, WA on President’s Day Weekend, February, 2013.
- The Valley View Choir auditioned for and was selected to be part of Music Express Video Mashup “The Song Of Life” shown on You- Tube this fall.
- There is an all-school talent show in the winter and the 5th grade talent show is in the spring, just before school gets out. The fifth grade talent show is run entirely by the 5th graders; the stage and sound crews and MC’s are all those students who audition for and are selected for the show.

Mt. Stuart:
- Four students auditioned and one student, Alyssa Cox, was selected for the WIAA/WMEA All-State Youth Honor Choir in Vancouver, WA on President’s Day Weekend, February, 2013.
- Mt. Stuart 5th Grade Talent Show – performed during the Mt. Stuart BBQ. Any 5th grader that wants to can audition with a talent. Around 10 “numbers” are selected and those students perform at the BBQ. In the past, students have performed on piano, cello, violin, sang, yo-yo routine, a skit, a monologue, the “Macarena,” a clogging routine, and many more. Students also audition to be the M.C.

Lincoln:
- In October, 25 children performed at the “Food Day” held at Hal Holmes.
- In December, Music Club performed at the morning Rotary Club and the noon Rotary Club meetings (55 students)

Curriculum

The music repertoires for each middle school group are unique to the group, so the teachers construct their curricula individually, according to best practices, materials based on their professional assessment, and alignment with district, state, and national music standards (National Standards for Arts Education) and requirements.

Class time involves not only rehearsing music for upcoming concerts, contests, other performances, but a variety of individual tests and projects. Sample In-Class Assessment activities include:

  STRINGS: Playing tests, writing original compositions, arranging music for their string orchestra or chamber music group, creating original music games, written self-assessments, learning Scottish fiddle tunes by ear, rearranging seating for balance and blend.

  BAND: Students are graded through
          (1) playing tests alone in class from selections of music and specific music exercises;
          (2) Theory Tests (technical elements or the construction materials of music);
          (3) concert, band assessments/competition, and community performances are graded;
          (4) Class Participation;
          (5) Practice Card.
          (6) After each concert and band assessment/competition, using an interactive adjudication form I created, students evaluate their own band's performance. At band assessment/competition, using the adjudication form, students are to assess two other bands.

  CHOIR: Assignments reinforce the musical concepts taught in Sight Singing Books provided in the Choir Room, e.g., Solfege Singing, CBPA-Sight Singing Activity (Spring), Tests and Quizzes aligned with curriculum, Listening, Rhythm reading.

Curriculum
High school teachers meet regularly, but because the music repertoires are unique to each group, they construct their curricula individually, according to best practices, materials based on their professional assessment, and alignment with district, state, and national music standards (National Standards for Arts Education) and requirements.
Class time involves not only rehearsing music for upcoming concerts, contests, other performances, but a variety of individual tests and projects. Sample In-Class Assessment activities include:

BAND: Students are graded through

1. playing tests from selections of music and specific music exercises. Through recording by tape, computer, cell phone recording, or playing testing alone in the classroom;
2. Theory Tests (technical elements or the construction materials of music);
3. concert, band assessments/competition, community performances are graded;
4. Class Participation;
5. Practice Card.
6. After each concert and band assessment/competition, using an interactive adjudication form I created, students evaluate their own band's performance. At band assessment/competition, using the adjudication form, students are to assess two other bands.

CHOIR: Vocabulary tests, part singing tests, rhythm drills, group assessment assignments, contests

ORCHESTRA: Playing tests, writing original compositions, arranging music for their string orchestra or chamber music group, creating original music games, written self-assessments, learning Scottish fiddle tunes by ear, rearranging seating for balance and blend.

Graded Concert/Contest Assessments

Concerts and Contests are our primary group performance assessments, allowing us to demonstrate under pressure that which we have worked to accomplish in the classroom. Additionally, contests provide feedback from other professionals and give students perspectives on how our program compares with others.

BANDS:
- Four Concerts per year (October, December, March, May)
- EHS Veterans Assembly
- EHS Graduation ceremony
- EHS Baccalaureate ceremony
- CWU Wind Ensemble Festival (Wind Ensemble only)
- CWU Jazz Festival
- Yakima Valley Music Educators Association (YVMEA) Regional Large Group Contest
- Columbia Basin College State Band and Jazz Band Competitions

CHOIRS:
- Concerts (4 per year): 18 Jazz Choir students, 22 Symphonic Choir students, 14 Chamber Choir students—October, December, March, May. Students graded on punctuality, set-up, performance, audience behavior, and teardown. They also do a self-assessment of their performance usually 2 days afterwards (we watch our video or listen to a recording)

- Contests: 2 for Chamber, 1 for Symphonic, sometimes 1 for Jazz Choir-- Yakima Valley Music Educators Association (YVMEA) Regional Large Group Contest, CWU Choir Festival (Chamber Choir only). Students graded on trip behavior, performance. We are adjudicated by a panel of 3 judges and are scored against a set standard. Students also do a self-assessment upon our return.

- Chamber/Jazz Tour (November): The choirs go on an annual tour to different parts of the state of Washington. In November 2012, 30 students went on tour to Camas HS, Union HS, Battleground HS, Mark Morris HS, Capitol Rotunda, Edmonds Community College. See report at the end of this document. Students are graded on punctuality and work ethic on the tour, performance, and audience behavior while others are performing. We evaluate upon our return and review what we learned from the tour, both from other schools as well as clinicians.

- EHS Veterans Assembly: If a group number is performed by the choirs, the performance will be graded.

- Jazz Contest: Jazz Choir, usually the Moawad Festival (CWU). Same as contests for concert choirs listed above.

- Evening On Broadway (October): Students all learn a Broadway opener, closer, and then either a solo or group number. All students in Chamber and Symphonic Choir participate in the unit, but some choose to perform only for class or in private (in a practice room for a video recorder). Students research their song, costume as needed, and assess their performance via videotape when finished.

- Jazzmas (December): All Jazz Choir students learn a Christmas song and perform it in a jazz style for a Christmas dance held at EHS. They must transpose if necessary, prepare the music for a full rhythm section, and perform a solo from memory. Some also choose to do duets or small ensembles; the entire Jazz Choir sings 2-3 numbers at the beginning of the show. Students are graded on set-up, performance of their solo and also of their group songs, and on tear-down.

- Jazz Dessert (May): Jazz Choir—same as Jazzmas expectations and assessment

STRINGS:

- Three evening concerts during the year (November, March, May), featuring all five orchestras (elementary beginning, elementary advanced, middle school beginning/intermediate – a mix of first and second year players in grades 6-7, middle school advanced grades 6-7, and high school orchestra grades 8-12).

- The top three orchestras participated in the YVMEA Regional Large Group Contest for the first time this year, March 2013. Ellensburg High School orchestra received the highest rating of all schools.

In the distant past, fees for all festivals, competitions, and street marching parades were covered by the district. Today, the costs are covered by the Music Building budgets for choir/band. These budgets were originally put in place for curricular expenses such as for sheet music. Costs for curricular activities such as contests and festivals have been pushed into these budgets, as well as costs for extra-curricular expenses such as fees for participation in the state solo/ensemble contests. These budgets have not been increased to cover these additional expenses. Thus, the music budget must pay fees for Central Wind Ensemble Festival, YVMEA Large Group competitions, students auditioning for All State or All Northwest Band positions, Central Jazz Festival, and Columbia Basin College State Competitions.

One thing often lost in the details of performances is the amount of setup and teardown time involved in each, well beyond the planning and preparation of the event. Concerts, especially those stage in the gymnasium, require set up (2 hours) and tear down (1 hour). Contests require 4-8 hours outside of the workday, depending on how far the respective group needs to travel. Tours are usually combined with musical exchanges with other schools such that students assess their abilities in relationship to other groups, learn from clinicians, and to hear some great ensembles. Special events like Jazzmas and Jazz Dessert require the same or more setup/teardown logistics due to the additional technology involved. These events also have special value to the students because the focus also includes solo performances, increasing self-esteem and individual responsibility. All of these activities are integral parts of our curriculum.

Extra-curricular activities

Extra-curricular experiences augment our classroom learning by allowing each student to explore their abilities beyond what is required of them. Some are ready for big challenges and so take on lead performance roles or organizational roles, while others choose to participate at a lesser degree. All benefit by being able to be individually challenged.

BANDS:
- Marching/Pep Bands
- Solo/Ensemble Contests—13 band students participated in 20 solo and ensemble categories at the district level; 9 won their category (or more than one) to make it to the state competition in 13 different categories.
- All-State and All-Northwest auditions and participation: 1 bassist selected (the only one) for All Northwest Jazz Band;
- February--High school bassist (Bob Bruya) selected to participate in the Grammys Jazz Camp.

Marching and Pep Band have a place in the school—it is a GREAT public relations tool for the school and our programs. However, they require extra time on the part of the director and especially the students. For example, pep band requires more hours than school days and falls solely on the band students of the district; see below.

- Marching Band requires approximately a total of 90 hours, including prep work. Students in Marching Band get .25 PE credit up to a maximum of .5.
- Football pep band requires 16-24 hours during the regular season; playoffs can add another 20-30 hours depending on location of games.
- Basketball pep band. The director is trying to limit the impact per student to 5 nights at 4 hours each during the regular season, 12 hours total for the district playoffs, 12 hours total for regionals, and then the same for state. The total time for this part of the position can push 200-230+ hours for me (equivalent to an additional .2-.3 FTE).

Greetings!

I thought you might enjoy a recap of our Chamber and Jazz Choir tour this year. We left on Sunday, Nov. 18th, at around 3:00 for a 4-hour ride to Camas, WA, and on arrival, we were greeted by a group of Camas students who came to hang out and play some get acquainted games. We headed to bed a bit later than anticipated because the students were having so much fun.

After a short night (on the choir room and band room floors of Camas High School…), we were up early and enjoying an exchange with the Camas HS Chamber Choir, followed by exchanges with their Bass choir and then their Treble Choir. This is the director’s second year at Camas, and the program is growing by leaps and bounds. We heard many pieces from Latin America, as that is the theme that the director has chosen for the year.

A short bus ride found us at Union HS, a very large school with a very healthy choir program. Although our Chamber Choir is small in comparison, we sing well in tune and communicate text well to our audiences. This is something that we have worked very hard on this year, and the comments from Union High School students and director were very positive.

After lunch and another brief exchange with Union’s Treble Choir, we were off to Battle Ground High School, where we exchanged with both the BGHS Chamber and Vocal Jazz Choirs. Their director, Darcy Schmitt, is a long-time friend of mine, and an amazing teacher and clinician. She is also the legal guardian to a blind, autistic savant fellow named Brent, who can play the piano in any style you can imagine. He loves jazz, and plays for Battle Ground High School’s jazz program. At the conclusion of our exchange, we enjoyed a lively jam session where some of our students mustered their courage and took their first public scat solo. After an incredibly productive vocal jazz clinic with Darcy, we gathered around the piano and listened to Brent play for awhile. Though difficult to converse with, he has an incredible sense of humor, and we were thoroughly entertained and amazed. Name a tune, name an artist, name a style, name a key, and he is immediately able to play what you request. I am certain that this was an experience that many of our students will never forget.

After filling our bellies at Rocky’s all-you-can-eat Pizza/Pasta/Salad Bar/Taco Bar, we traveled to Mark Morris High School in Longview, WA (mind you, it is still Monday). We arrived around 8:30, again to a group of cheering students who welcomed us and helped us carry in our gear. We enjoyed about 1½ hours of games, hit the showers and bedded down (this time on the upper levels of the gym).

Tuesday morning started off with a 6:45 exchange with Mark Morris Vocal Jazz. (Their director, Brian Mitchell, was my first student teacher.) He is an excellent teacher; his vocal jazz group was very strong. It is such a treat for us to hear other good groups; we do not have this opportunity in our small world of Ellensburg. We also exchanged with the Mark Morris Chamber Choir. They, too, are very good, and I found some literature that will be fun to program for my choirs.

Off to the Washington State Capitol, where we quietly entered and circled the seal of the state of Washington in the rotunda. It is surprising how many of our students (and even some of the chaperones) have not been to our state capitol. Because it is solid marble, you can only imagine the acoustical treat that greeted our ears. We sang a short 20-minute program, beginning with “The Star Spangled Banner” and concluding with the “Battle Hymn of the Republic.” As we moved through our program, we changed singing positions; our last couple of pieces were performed from the 3rd floor balconies with me directing down below. I am told that there is a 7-second echo in the rotunda, so our final chords rang and rang. Lots of smiles, and more than a few goose bumps…

From the Capitol, we zipped up to Edmonds Community College, enjoying an exchange with both the EDCC Symphonic Choir and the vocal jazz ensemble. Soundsation, as the group is known, is one of the three most highly respected vocal jazz groups in the northwest. We are so fortunate to have them so nearby. Their director, Kirk Marcy, is also a great teacher and clinician, and in a short period of time, we made some great improvements in our pieces.

We then headed to the Alderwood Mall for a couple of hours of dinner and shopping, and then headed for home. Thankfully, the weather cooperated, and we arrived back at EHS around 9:15 p.m. As you can imagine, the students were exhausted, and filled with new concepts and enthusiasm for their art form.

I am always filled with gratitude that our district and our staff support this kind of learning outside the classroom. The trip is funded entirely by our Choir ASB account, which means the students have fundraised for everything, including my sub while I am away. They always have a lot of fun, but you can be sure that they are great ambassadors of our school and community. They are friendly, engaging, and when it comes time to make music, they bring it to the table every time.

Thank you for supporting this opportunity to learn outside the box. It is a highlight of our choral year.

Respectfully,
Gay Ott
EHS Choral Director
Coalition Concerns for future study

Retention/continuation rates: There are marked changes in music participation as students change schools (5th to 6th grade; 8th to 9th grade). Next year, we would like to explore the possibility of surveying at least 5th and 8th graders regarding plans and reasons for continuing (or not) in music. This information would be gathered and kept anonymous, with statistics shared with the district teachers and administration.

Seniors in Music: Also, next year we would like to feature graduating seniors who are in music groups, their activities and their plans after high school—perhaps another survey or exit interview.

Costs for students: Over 40 Ellensburg high school students competed at the district (YVMEA) Solo/Ensemble Contest; the YVMEA district extends from Zillah to Easton, and includes Yakima schools, so being selected for the State contest is a high honor, comparable to being selected for state competitions in high school athletics. 15 EHS students won their instrument/voice/ensemble category and competed at the state level in April. One student was the First Place winner for his category (Quinn Price, violin), and one ensemble (brass quintet) placed third. Fees for students achieving State WIAA/WMEA Solo/Ensemble Competition by winning district Solo/Ensemble Contests, must be paid by the students if they want to participate. These are not paid by the school district. Similarly, 8 students who auditioned for All-State and All-Northwest (a regional/six state competition) were selected for all-star/honor bands, orchestras, or choirs. They did not receive any financial help from the district to attend these events (February, Portland). While this is an extra-curricular, the opportunities for students like these are similar to those achieved by school athletes. Perhaps district money could be allocated to support these activities that reflect so positively on our district.

Thank you for your time and attention. Music teachers are one of very few teachers in a district that work with our students over multiple years, AND have multiple grade levels in classes at the same time. It takes good teachers to make good music. The music of the Ellensburg School District is amazing—thanks to our music teachers!
